Imagine this.... You're taking an "Acing the Audition" class and your acting teacher gives you the assignment to go on a casting call to see what it's like. As luck (divine providence?) would have it, The Home Shopping Network is holding an open casting call in your town, looking for a TV Show Host. So you go through the audition process along with 2000 hopefuls. You land the gig.

Such was the serendipitous beginning of Amy Leah Axelrod's TV career as a host and product spokesperson for the Home Shopping Network. Now, after 11 years and sales of over $200 million, Amy Leah has resurrected her dream of an acting career with enthusiasm, determination and joy. She's booked several commercials, infomercials and independent movie roles with astonishing success. She says that's what happens when you're following your heart and passion. "You take a leap of faith and the Universe conspires for you in amazing ways!"

"Amy Leah is an absolute joy to collaborate with and 'nails it' with unerring believability. She's a blast on the set.... funny, good natured and cute as hell!" Ken Hunt, Director – "Clinique of Plastic Surgery" commercial.

" This was a last minute commercial shoot with no script or storyboard and I didn't have a chance to hold an actual rehearsal. We did a quick run through prior to the taping, with Amy Leah just going along and improvising to whatever the interviewer asked. Luckily, I had the camera rolling because she was so fantastic we didn't even do an actual take.... we used the run through!" Producer/Director Gene May – "Project Gimme Twenty" commercial

" I've done over 200 shows over the past 10 years on HSN with Amy Leah. She is the most gracious, enthusiastic, articulate host I have had the pleasure of working with. She has a delightful spirit and is a joy to work with. " TV Personality Darlene Cahill – Sewing/Lifestyle Expert, Home Shopping Network
